WHO WE ARE

TerraTek Engineering Group is a leading full-service and high-end environmental consulting firm which specializes in all aspects of engineering and environmental services. We provide engineering services to all industries, whether small or large, with great utilities, technical know-how, and service satisfaction that stands at the best. Our innovative approach with the use of hardware, software, and molecular science to deliver industry-leading engineering solutions provide customers with a range of technical capabilities that cannot be found elsewhere.

TerraTek was established in the year 2013 under the name of Nivia I. Ayala & Assoc. in Puerto Rico, with a drive to assist the entire region with sound engineering and environmental services that are consistent and reliable. We are supported by a skilled team of professionals who has more than 30 years of experience providing outstanding engineering solutions with a personal and comprehensive support that is tailored to help our customers and the community at large. Our company is also enriched with a unique list of professional teammates and associates with our facility, headquartered in San Juan, PR. We have since proven to be a well-established firm with a vertically-integrated mission which is directed towards the growth of the industry, as we provide high-quality engineering services, creative environmental solutions, and much more.

OUR VISION

At TerraTek, our vision is to be the most sought-after engineering and environmental provider who offers the highest level of expertise, innovation, and practical solutions for the regulatory and business challenges faced by many organizations. We are dedicated to giving a top-notch service through professional and cost-effective environmental sustainability consulting to meet our client's goals of compliance, sustainability and profitability.

OUR MISSION

Our mission is geared towards providing excellent services in each of our proficient disciplines in accordance with codes of conduct, legal practices, and integrity. Our focus is devoted to the conscious development of our team and building a leading platform that is capable of providing the right service to our valued clients.

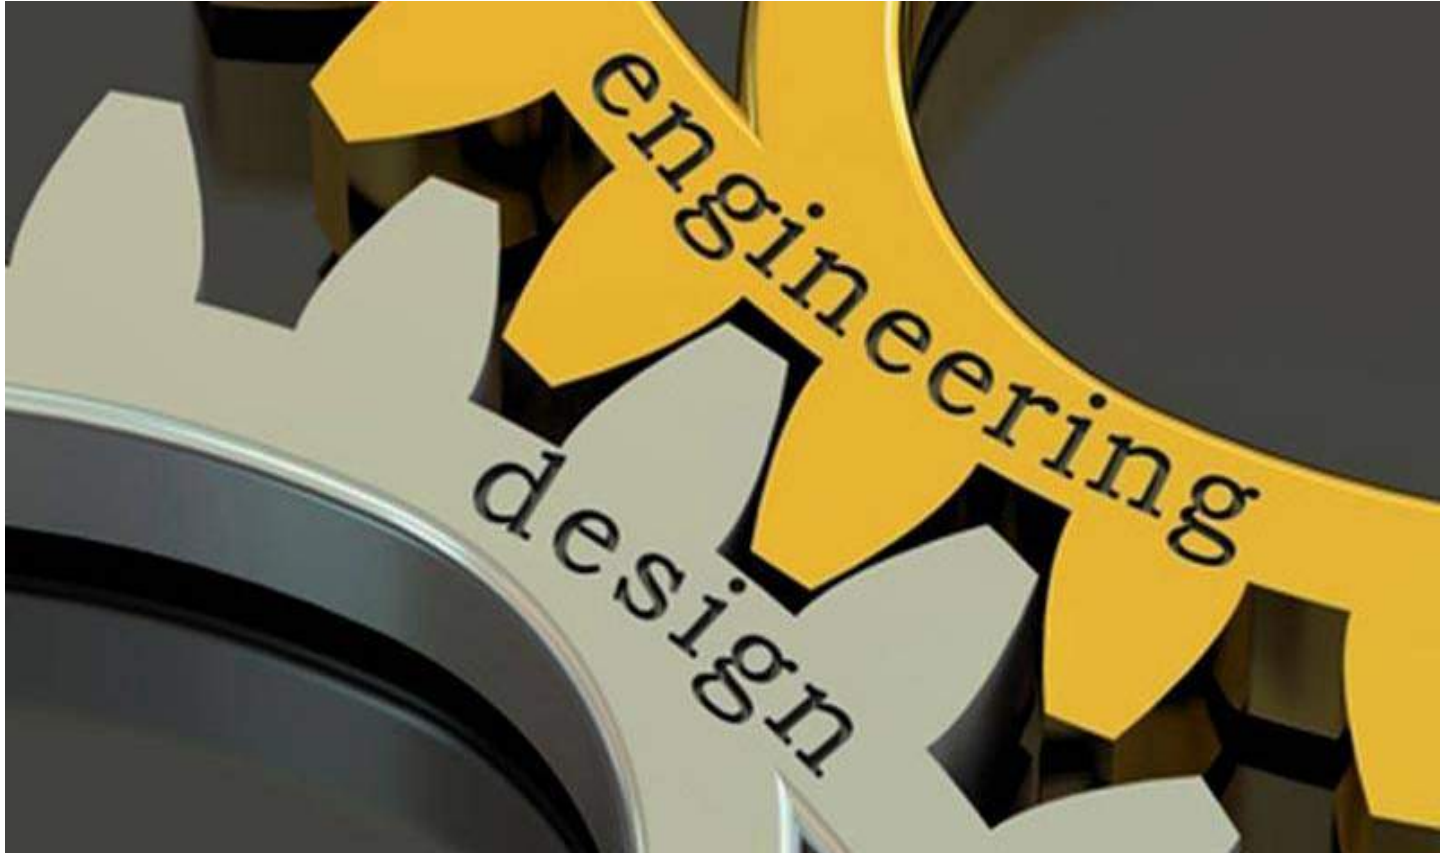

TerraTek is proud to be one of the Puerto Rico's top environmental firms delivering practical solutions that balance today's financial, environmental, and regulatory challenges. As we develop and implement solutions providing engineered-and-custom designed solution, we maintain a high level of responsiveness to our client's environmental concerns.

As technologies continue to evolve, TerraTek evolves. We remain at the forefront applying new processes and scientific knowledge to improve environmental compliance, reduce project risk, and provide our clients the ability to foresee and adapt their business to environmental, social, economic and regulatory change. Continuous improvement, our in-the-field experience, and our deep involvement in the industries we serve help us deliver smart and simple solutions that work.
